Morris Churchfield is the long-established specialist fire alarm division of the JW Morris Company, trading for over 15 years. Morris Churchfield provide a comprehensive design, installation, commissioning and maintenance service across a vast array of private, public, commercial and Industrial sector industries, with specific expertise in the following:

- Automotive & Aviation
- Defence
- Science & Technology
- Government Buildings
- Heritage Buildings
- Leisure
- Nursing Homes
- Student Accommodation
- Education
- Health
- Food & Beverage
- Manufacturing & Process Industries

As an independent fire alarm specialist we can offer impartial in-house design advice on the most appropriate system to meet individual client technological and budgetary requirements.

Close links to leading fire alarm manufacturers allow for comprehensive technical support and access to research and development capabilities to solve complex technical problems. The division has particular and recognised experience in providing fire alarm protection and maintenance services to major public buildings including nervous NHS trusts, Universities and other sites such as the Millennium Centre and the DLVA
